

Bridal MAD LIBS

Once upon a time, in a adjective land, there was a beautiful bride named bride's name . She was getting ready for her wedding day, and everything was going perfectly. The adjective flowers were arranged, the plural noun were ready, and the adjective cake was waiting to be eaten.

But suddenly, the adjective groom, groom's name , realized he had forgotten the noun ! He quickly called his family member for help, but they were busy verb ending in "ing" at the place .

Meanwhile, the bride was busy verb ending in "ing" in her adjective wedding dress. She could hardly wait to say her vows to her adjective partner. As she walked down the aisle, she felt so emotion , surrounded by plural noun and plural noun .

The ceremony was full of plural noun and adjective moments. When it was time for the kiss, groom's name leaned in and gave her a adjective kiss, and the crowd erupted in noun . They were finally married!

The reception was filled with plural noun , dancing, and everyone was having a adjective time. The couple's first dance was to their favorite song genre , and they both looked adjective as they twirled around the place .

And they lived adverb ever after!